16. Describe the types of decisions made independently in this position and tell who or what is affected by those decisions.

Clinical decisions based on professional knowledge and experience. The decisions required are generally "clinical decisions" regarding the design and implementation of individual treatment programs or selection of assessment instruments. Such decisions may require independence of judgment or collaborative work with other professionals. Such decisions are required on a day-to-day basis and have critical effects on both the immediate and long-term welfare of patients/clients. The decisions are particularly important because they guide treatment programs. Such decisions must also result in an active treatment program for each patient/client, which meets the standards of care required by monitoring and accrediting agencies.

17. Describe the types of decisions that require the supervisor's review.

Decisions requiring review by supervision are those related to difficulties in diagnosis and treatment questions related to confidentiality of information, issues regarding standards of professional practice, questions of the interpretation and implementation of treatment programs meeting the standards of the facility and its accrediting bodies. Supervisor also reviews psychological assessment reports.

18. What kind of physical effort is used to perform this job? What environmental conditions in this position physically exposed to on the job? Indicate the amount of time and intensity of each activity and condition. Refer to instructions.

The physical effort required by this position is not unusual in either intensity or amount. Work is generally performed indoors in space shared with other professional staff. Staff must be able to move from one building to another (i.e. from assigned residential unit to PSR program). Sitting, standing, bending, stooping, walking, running, reaching and carrying (medical record, test kits) may all be required for this position. It is also noted that the ability to react quickly and effectively to incidents of physical aggression when patients/clients are emotionally upset is necessary and staff may have to assist in the management of patients/clients requiring verbal redirection and/or physical intervention
